Hi Kris

I don't want to give this gentleman the wrong information, so can you respond to his questions? I mean I think he already past the 21 day response time.

Thanks,

Michael,

I wanted to let you know that I am preparing the response with the information available. I have had some difficulties getting some information but I will have the initial information for you by Monday the 26th. I am no longer an employee or associated with TransMessis and work another full time job so I have to do this outside of my work hours.

I am not sure when the 21 day period is technically over but I can send you what I have later this week and then follow up with more information as I can assemble the details.

How would you like me to proceed? When is the 21 day period over?

This is an old email address I still have active.

Let me know if this is acceptable.

Thanks,

Damon Pistulka
